Reverse-Engineering is not a normal service offered by most distributors. In fact, equipment users rarely need reverse engineering services until working obsolete equipment fails and replacement parts are not available. What do you do when a perfectly good piece of gear goes down and can't be fixed? The answer is simple: Call CDW Drives and we will reverse engineer the part(s) and get your equipment up and running again.

Carlson – Dimond & Wright is a distributor and integrator that employs experienced engineers and mechanics. Our technical staff provides expert design and consultative services. In addition, we are capable of reverse engineering your broken equipment and retrofitting it with CDW Drives custom engineered replacement parts. Need a fix? Call CDW Drives for solutions.
